FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: 04/06/19

ProcessFlows Launches ePRINTit, Flexible and Convenient Cloud Printing

(CHANDLERS FORD, HAMPSHIRE, UK – June 2019) ProcessFlows is excited to launch ePRINTit, another first class product from UniPrint.net.

“Having worked successfully with Uniprint for a number of months, we are now very excited to announce a new Product, ePRINTit. This is completely infrastructure free multi-tenanted cloud offering for the shared office, hospitality, education, library and retail markets. Offering full billing capabilities with integration into PayPal and Stripe.” Miles Powley, Head of Print Sales for ProcessFlows.

ePRINTit allows users to print on the go via the ePRINTit mobile app, utilising the built-in geo-location feature to direct the user to the nearest ePRINTit public printer.

Pat Johnson, MPS Partner and Strategy Manager for UniPrint.net states, “Powerful SaaS cloud printing infrastructure that addresses the needs of an increasingly mobile and flexible workforce.

Providing the flexibility and convenience to upload documents to their own secure ePRINTit cloud portal from windows printing, mobile app or via website portal.

The ePRINTit mobile app enables secure access to OneDrive, Office 365, Dropbox, Google, Box and email accounts, all from one platform. All documents are securely encrypted during both rest/transfer and are only released at the print station once users have been authenticated. ePRINTit reporting will monitor your print environment with print tracking and reports to help support and monitor who, what, where, and when information was printed.”

Miles concludes, “From the initial reaction in the market place, we believe this will be a game changer and offer new opportunities to our channel partners. The product is technically a very simple solution to install and support.”
